

BE YOU

Music and lyrics by Liane Gabora
July 14, 2018 (with subsequent modifications)

It may surprise you what matters most
When you walk in the light of the moon

It may surprise you what matters most
When you plunge into the blue

It may surprise you what matters most
When the strings of your soul come in tune

Be you, be you, be you, be you
Be you, be you, be you

It may surprise you who your friends are
When you're weak, and alone, far from home

It may surprise you who your friends are
When you're strong, and the whole world loves you

It may surprise you who your friends are
When you do something new that is true to you

Be you, be you, be you, be you
Be you, be you, be you

It may surprise you the layers that wait
To unfurl, to unpeel, to reveal

It may surprise you what lies inside
There's a universe in hiding

It may surprise you the window you find
To express what you feel, what is real

Be you, be you, be you, be you
Be you, be you, be you, be you
Be you, be you, be you